

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas on Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble may be cured by the use of a few ounces of Bismarck's Acid Stomach Tablets. These tablets are made of the purest and most reliable materials and are not a laxative. They are a powerful and effective remedy for all forms of stomach trouble, and are especially recommended for the use of the elderly and the infirm.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion, or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bismarck's Acid Stomach Tablets.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antacid than Bismarck's Acid Stomach Tablets. It is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a laxative. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of tablets taken after each meal will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the most distressing natural and artificial indigestion.

Use a few ounces of Bismarck's Acid Stomach Tablets from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, acid or citrate, and is the Bismarck form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you please next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

NORWICH TOWN

The January meeting of the Men's League was held Monday evening in the First Congregational chapel. Following business, Vice President Allen Latham presented General Secretary Edwin F. Hill, of the Y. M. C. A., who addressed a small, though very appreciative audience. On a trip to Detroit was the subject which Secretary Hill treated in a most interesting manner, relating many experiences while attending the Y. M. C. A. convention held in that city last November. The speaker said that Detroit differed from many other cities. One thing that greatly impressed him, business wise, was the haste of the people. One cannot go into the city of Detroit without feeling the spirit of haste. It is a large business center, and much in the time building of all kinds are being constructed. There are many large hotel buildings, all of which are largely patronized, and prices are very high. One old hotel has a rating of $5 a day. The traffic laws are not as good as in many other cities, and one has to be on the alert all the time in getting around. The speaker made reference to two automobile factories visited during his stay, which employ thousands of men, and a wonderful amount of work these skilled mechanics turn out daily. He also spoke of the church, which he attended which had a congregation of 1500, with 800 in the Bible class. The churches display the same amount of haste as the business enterprises. Large congregations and the clergyman are just preaching the simple story of Jesus Christ.

At the Y. M. C. A. convention there were 5000 delegates, half of whom were business men. The singing was a special feature and there were many noted speakers from different parts of the country. Among those who gave inspiring addresses were President King, Dr. Robert Spear, Richard Connell, and many others. The principal lyp action was taken that will lead to various improvements being made in the buildings at the fair grounds during the coming spring and summer.

General repair work will be undertaken and special attention given to providing a poultry house with more adequate accommodations than the present one. Just what will be done in the way of repairs will be decided when the directors meet at the fair grounds, probably about April 1, and make a thorough inspection of the property.

The directors at their Brooklyn meeting also took a vote that it is expected that will aid very materially in increasing the interest in the horse racing, at the fair next fall. The directors have voted to increase by $300 the amount heretofore allowed for purses, so that a total of $800 will make up the purses for next fall's racing.

The dates decided upon for the fair are September 21-23-25.

In discussing the society's plans for improving the buildings and increasing the trotting purses, Marshall J. Frink of Canterbury, long a very efficient official of the fair, said that the society is appreciative of all that the public has done to make the fair a success in the past and that it is his wish that all will continue to maintain interest and make Brooklyn fair better and bigger than ever.

PUTNAM

The Putnam woman, whose identity has not been established, and who answered the advertisement of a New Hampshire farmer who is looking for a wife, seems to be a prime favorite among the host of applicants and with other men who hope to get a wife from among the women who have answered the advertisement mentioned.

The following clipping will indicate the interest in the local woman: Leap year isn't at all necessary in the world of things feminine in New England. It would appear from developments yesterday in the search for a wife being conducted by F. H. Booth, a farmer of Walpole, N. H.

Many New England men are seeking wives—far more than there are women seeking husbands. Such would seem the case if a flood of letters that has poured in to the Post is to be taken as a criterion.

Yesterday brought many applications from men in various sections of New England for all of Mr. Booth's "surplus." The letters, it is said, almost all of them had not decided to accept any of the 100-year matrimonial prospects.

"As Mr. Booth can only marry one of the women, I write to ask for the addresses of the others, I can furnish all preferences," wrote an applicant from Smith street, North Providence. "Especially would like the name and address of the Putnam woman."

Mr. Booth failed to select her for his wife; this applicant continued.

Mr. Booth had little idea when he wrote to the Post seeking aid in his search for a mate what a furor he started for old Dan Cupid in the six New England states. His appeal had hardly rolled off the Post's big presses than there have been scores, and now come men seeking Booth's "rejection."

The work of reorganizing the Putnam Fire department was completed Tuesday advanced on Tuesday when it was announced, a number of men who had served for years in the department were elected to the new organization.

These men fill vacancies in this company, the new one being created by the transfer of men who were on the active list to membership in the No. 2 company or by transferring them to the reserve membership list.

The newly appointed officers, Councilman D. Arnold, and his assistant engineers, Ralph E. Thurston and E. L. Kelley, have qualified for their offices and are now in charge of the department.

Tuesday afternoon Chief Arnold gave out the following list of men who were elected to the new organization:

Mr. D. W. Barnes, Frank Thayer, Stephen E. Barnes, Frank Ames, Irving Cutler, W. E. Maynard, Walter Wheaton, Franklin Baker, Henry Burdick, Wilfred L. Benoit, Herbert Owen, F. M. Hughes, Charles T. Plavner, Lee W. Plavner, Harry Moore and Edward Adams.

The reorganized company had their first workout Tuesday morning when there was a call for a small fire in a tenement house near Day's Silk mill. This fire was extinguished by the use of chemicals, no water being turned on.

Mayor A. W. Marcy said Tuesday afternoon that the changes so far made in the reorganization of the fire department are in line with a plan which has been carried out since the city is hoped will make the department a more efficient fire-fighting organization than ever. There may be further changes, Mayor Marcy indicated, but that the changes already made are the principal ones arranged for.

An audience that heard the lecture with close attention gathered at the assembly hall of the high school Tuesday evening to listen to Dr. Alfred C. Fones, of Portland, Maine. There in Putnam there is much enthusiasm for a system under which the teeth of school children will be regularly looked after by experienced dentists, as is being done in a number of cities and towns of Connecticut, and with splendid results.

Mrs. Matilda Swanson, 85, one of the oldest residents of North Grovesboro, is dead at her home in that town.

Fred Bruce and Wilfred Benoit are now drivers of Chemical Company Truck No. 1, of the fire department. Both of these men are experienced drivers, having formerly served the city in the same capacity in the fire department.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Howard Cross spent Sunday with Putnam relatives.

Miss Pauline Mathewson leaves tomorrow (Wednesday) for New York on Thursday she leaves for Miami, Fla. to spend the winter.

Warren Thatcher of East Killingly, Conn., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Thatcher, here.
